REPORTING TO YOU

SUCCESSIVE GOVERNMENTS HAVE LIED TO YOU

Our government, regardless of which party is in power, is constantly imposing new laws upon us.

85% of these laws are instigated by the EU before being gold plated and rubber stamped by our own unelected civil servants. The government is speculating about the repatriation of powers from Brussels. Don't be fooled.

In the 40 years of EU membership, no power given to Brussels has ever been repatriated.

The only way to repatriate powers and once again govern ourselves is to leave the EU completely.

This is what our Conservative, Labour and Coalition governments have done to us:

Border Controls. There is no border control for immigrants and visitors from most EU countries and this allows them to take our benefits and jobs. Cameron is planning to impose a ban on Croatians when they join the EU shortly. However this is only transitional, lasting no more than 5 to 7 years. Besides, 29 million Bulgarians and Romanians can come here in 2014. His way of reducing immigration is to reduce wealthy non-eu student numbers, a reduction that will only hit our universities, shops and accommodation providers' incomes, meaning fewer staff & courses. Potential students will go elsewhere & other countries will welcome them in these cash-strapped times.

NHS. The introduction of the European Working Time Directive in 2009 has contributed to loss of life amongst patients. The reduction in doctors and nurses hours has caused more than 21 casualty and maternity units to close, as well as depriving doctors of valuable experience. This will worsen as the NHS tries to find a further £20b of savings before 2015, all at a time of increased immigration and an aging population. Nationwide the cuts in working hours have reduced families' and individuals' chances of getting mortgages.

Language tests for Aussies, Kiwis and other Commonwealth countrymen who wish to work in the NHS, whilst those from the EU who do not speak English are allowed to work untested and without restriction. We have seen in the news the devastation to families when family members have died or suffered due to language misunderstandings from those who are trusted and employed to protect and help them.

Child Benefit to families whose children have never even been in the UK Just because a parent from the EU is or was working in the UK even when these parents have returned 'home' abroad. This is currently costing us Brits £36M a year and is rising fast. They can even claim a pension at the higher British rates without contributing the full amount as paid by the British. Those in the UK can also have free interpreters at your considerable expense to make sure they get the right benefits and the EU is subsidising Spanish youths to come to the UK to apparently look for work but claim benefits from the outset again at your expense.

Wind Turbines are subsidised by British home and business owners by way of vast increases in their Gas and Electricity bills. The technology is totally inadequate and incapable of adding worthwhile power to the national grid. As the wind does not always blow or can even blow too hard mainstream traditional power stations have to run at the same time 24/7 to provide the backup that will be needed. So - absolutely no saving at all, in fact an unnecessary doubling of the electricity production cost. USA, Germany, France and others realise this and are ditching the useless, completely un-green and countryside ruining giants, and the USA is now prospering by the use of shale gas. Even European companies are relocating to the States to benefit from their cheap power costs.

Recycling is in some ways a sensible way of managing the earth's resources. However to avoid massive EU fines the recent introduction of up to 9 recycling plastic boxes and containers is a major expense for local councils which will be reflected in increases in council tax. Landfill is not the evil it is made out to be – it allows for land reclamation which could with proper management be built upon avoiding new homes spoiling greenbelt or being built on floodplains. The retail industry should also be more aware of the waste their packaging causes and reduce it.

Crazy things that have happened

British Marines charged with murder for killing the enemy. Where else in the world can this nonsense happen? Training soldiers to be good at their job and arresting them when they are successful is lunacy.

Making military personnel redundant, many just days before they qualify for a full pension. If being deprived of their profession after £thousands have been spent on their training isn't enough many are losing or having reduced their immediate pensions or Early Departure Payment which help them to integrate into civilian life. What is worse many have found out by the impersonal and disgraceful practise of being emailed or texted.

Reducing our defence capability to such an extent that many small countries have a bigger military than we now have. Our forces are brave and the best in the world, hence their international peace keeping work, but would be stretched to defend our shores from attack. Cameron's premature ditching of the Harriers, the Ark Royal aircraft carrier, Nimrod and their crews are catastrophic and irresponsible but are only the surface of cuts meted out to our forces.

Allowing the EU to give foreign relocation grants especially designed to reduce the 50% youth unemployment in Spain and similar countries, is enabling foreign nationals to sign up for benefits in the UK. How cynical is this? Juggle the figures and hit the British tax payers with the bill in one foul move.

School education – EU providing dubious books and other learning material.

Successive Liblabcon governments have cut spending on school equipment to such a degree that the EU has been given an amazing opportunity to flood our state educational establishments with pro-EU propaganda. The saying 'Catch 'em Young' has never meant so much. The EU is made to look good in these books and pamphlets, and British history is slanted to make previous generations appear guilty of exploitation and warmongering. The deceitful notion that the EU has kept the peace since WW2 [emphasised by the crass award of the Nobel Peace Prize in 2012] is being drummed into our children's minds – making them ashamed of their country and its rich history. Don't get us started on the subject of sex education for those as young as 5 years old.

One of the things they have not done

No medals for the survivors of the Atlantic Convoys. These brave men who suffered all manner of deprivations during World War 2, who lost so many of their colleagues and friends on their sister ships that were sunk before their eyes by German U-boats, have been deprived of the proper recognition of being awarded campaign medals. Now elderly and fading in numbers, the crews who kept our country in food and supplies in the dark times of war, are being callously treated by this government who has put any award on hold. Such a disgraceful action brings only shame on the Coalition and the people of this country.

Doesn't all this make you really angry? It does us. The Coalition, Labour and Greens broadly have similar policies and are putting the people of the EU ahead of the British.
