

What outstanding results we experienced in the County Council Elections! A remarkable swing to UKIP since previous elections [3% to 25% or so]. For those of you who did not see results the votes and positions are recorded at <http://www.dorsetforyou.com/election-results-2013>. Ask for a paper copy if you want to see the results without using a computer.

We are celebrating UKIP's first Dorset Ferndown. Ian, who never expected to be his new job entails and has a plethora of will soon be up to speed. He is of course a with any queries you might have very soon. already have received Ian's bio. However your information. Ian's contact details are in County Councillor, Ian Smith [left] in elected is now extremely busy learning what training courses to attend but is very keen and County Councillor so will be able to assist you If you receive newsletters by email you may paper copies will accompany this issue for the contact details section of this newsletter.

Almost lost within the euphoria of the County Council elections was a District Council By-election in neighbouring West Dorset. Peter Jenkins fought the Cam ward for UKIP and came third with a similar and creditable 24.65%, and we warmly congratulate him.

We now have the task of finding funding for your branch. The costs of fielding so many candidates in this election and of the 'thank you' adverts placed in local papers have seriously depleted our funds. If you can make a donation to our association rather than Head Office [or perhaps both?] we would be eternally grateful and that will help us to the road of financial recovery. The association does incur running costs and needs to build up a fighting fund for the European Elections next year. The following year there will be a General Election [if the coalition lasts that long] and a plethora of Council seats up for grabs – and this all costs big time!

Candidates in the future elections are a big issue. There is unlikely to be any way of getting onto the European Election list after the end of May this year. However there is all to play for the General Election. All constituencies have to get their Prospective Parliamentary Candidates in place this summer so we are not caught out should there be a by-election or even a snap General Election. If you fancy a crack at this prestigious job opportunity [!] we need to register you very, very soon for your assessments. This is arranged by the Regional Organiser as close to your home turf as possible although you may have to travel some way. We must stress the urgency in starting this process so do please contact your Chairman asap. We need to hold a hustings this summer which has to be advertised to candidates nationwide by UKIP head office as well as with our branch members, as there is no requirement to live in the constituency to be a parliamentary candidate. Christchurch is already on song with this and is holding theirs on the 14th June in Matchams. See the diary for fuller details. If interested all are welcome to see what is involved.

As previously mentioned District, Borough and Town & Parish Council elections will be held in May 2015. Our experiences in the recent County elections indicate that paper candidates may be a thing of the past for UKIP. All candidates now share a considerable chance of being elected, especially if UKIP continues to rise in the polls. You only need to ask Ian Smith about that! We must therefore look for members who would be happy to be elected and carry out their duties as councillors. So please give this some thought. We would like to ask you to let your chairman know if this appeals to you so we can concentrate our search for candidates in other areas. Voters will want candidates in all wards and we must not disappoint them.

If you are hoping to be included in the ranks of candidates for next year's European Election you may be interested to know that the following MEPs are hoping to be re-elected: Stuart Agnew, Gerard Batten, Godfrey Bloom, William Dartmouth, Nigel Farage, Roger Helmer, Mike Nattrass, and Paul Nuttall. This informs us in the South West that Trevor Colman will not continue, meaning that at least two new faces will be joining the EUP from our area.

Indeed we have received a message from Trevor Colman confirming he will not be standing in the next EUP elections. We show this message for your information:

"I write to you to inform you and the members of your branch that I shall not be standing for re-election in the European Elections to be held in May 2014. In the intervening 12 months I shall continue as a UKIP MEP, working for the Party as I have in the past.

"I would like to take this opportunity to thank your membership for the support and assistance they have given me, not only for the period of time I have been a UKIP MEP, but also for the nine years we have worked together prior to that.

"Kind regards and best wishes, Trevor Colman MEP."

We thank Trevor for his considerable labours over these years and wish he and Sue a long, happy, healthy and well deserved retirement.

We are delighted to report that Party Leader Nigel Farage is coming to a theatre near you this month. It is a commercial venture and not organised by local members, thus there is a not unsubstantial charge of £18 a ticket. The venue is the Tivoli in Wimborne and details are shown in the diary. Do help to make this a success. Bookings are to be made with the theatre itself. We hope to see you there on the 19th June. Bring along some non-members?

We are also looking to hold another important meeting in Shaftesbury very soon, but we can't give details until all arrangements are in place. So please watch this space!

The UKIP Forum reports that Young Independence Universities Officer Liam Porter is building a contacts list of UKIP members who are currently at university. If you are at university, could you please let Liam know by email? Information which would be useful is your name, membership number, the year you will graduate and the university at which you are currently studying. Please contact Liam directly at liamp93@hotmail.co.uk.

Unfortunately for you Jeremy Nieboer is having a break from his pen this month but should be back to his erudite self next month. Regrettably, in the meantime, you will just have to put up with more from the editor!

It seems that Somerset farmers are worried about potato production and prices this year. Poor weather has led to late planting and reduced acreage, causing potatoes to double in price and us to be reliant on foreign produce.

Another agricultural problem concerns the cull on badgers. The cull takes place from June 1st and yet it has been announced before it starts that it is to be expanded into another 40 areas 'if deemed successful' by Environment Secretary Owen Paterson. It is expected to continue for 25 years with farmers being given to permission to shoot them routinely for a few weeks each year. However farmers state that the cull should last no more than 4 years. 100,000 badgers are expected to be killed by these measures. Conservationists and welfare campaigners argue that there is no compelling evidence that shows badgers are a key cause of Bovine TB, nor that culling them would halt it. The photo is of a Longham badger in the Greenacres garden.

Some time ago we mentioned that vacuum cleaners were under threat from the EU. We have now received confirmation that the maximum size of motor is to be 1600 watts, down from 2000watts and the new regulations take effect in 2014. Apparently this is to save power, although of course a lower powered machine will have to be run longer to achieve the same pickup capability – saving nothing whatsoever. The usual interfering rubbish from the EU. If you are thinking of updating your vacuum cleaner do it now before new ones become useless. This could be seen as an anti-British move, as many continental countries scarcely use them due to hard uncarpeted floors.

Plans for the privatisation of the Royal Mail, already decimated by being cherry picked by EU companies, have been firmed up. The government has appointed Goldman Sachs and UBS as the lead banks to manage a planned initial public sale on the London Stock Exchange later this year. Barclays and Bank of America Merrill Lynch will also be involved. This could value Royal Mail at about £3 billion according to some analysts. The company is now considered successful after a series of swinging postage cost rises, and an increasing use of online sales. The sale is due to an EU directive requiring such companies to be free of government ownership [esp. in the UK!]. The likely purchasers at a probable knock-down price are Dutch owned TNT and the German Deutsche Post – the latter ironically still part owned by the German government. Be prepared for a further reduction and possible cost increases for the less profitable services.

As you may have seen on TV the European Commission is taking the UK to court for “discrimination” after introducing a residency test for some welfare payments. Ministers fear the move will trigger a free-for-all for benefits tourists that could cost taxpayers more than £150 million a year. The Conservative Work and Pensions Secretary Iain Duncan Smith is making a show of vowing to fight “every step of the way” against the move. This is no more than a front as the EU will easily win its case, as IDS knows only too well. An EU spokesman [sorry – spokesperson] has said: “The UK discriminates unfairly against nationals from other member states. This contravenes EU rules on the coordination of social security systems which outlaw direct and indirect discrimination in the field of access to benefits.” We are more generous to immigrants than any other country, and we still get taken to court for discrimination! What more reason can we need for getting out of the EU?

It is interesting to note that the EU is criticising Spain for allowing some hospitals to refuse to recognise the European Health Insurance Card (EHIC) which Britons carry in the expectation of obtaining free medical treatment. The card is supposed to entitle holidaymakers from other EU countries to free care in public hospitals. But a growing number of tourists have had their cards rejected by Spanish hospitals and had to resort to credit cards. Staff have told them to claim on their travel insurance. Visitors should receive the same healthcare access as residents of the country they are visiting, including GP visits, prescriptions and hospital stays. One wonders whether the Spanish tourists pay anything when visiting British hospitals and other medical facilities. A level playing field that is rather hilly?

The EU's Environment committee is proposing that the top speed of vans in the European Union should be electronically limited to 120 km (75 miles) per hour. The plan is part of a debate on how to cut carbon emissions and improve the fuel efficiency of Europe's vehicles. It would only become law if approved by EU member states.

This month's petitions:

- Oppose possible pay increases for MPs – after all they are doing little for you: <http://epetitions.direct.gov.uk/petitions/44225>
- A Telegraph poll which may still be running asks 'Should Britain stay and renegotiate or leave the EU altogether?' When we last checked the results were as follows: 'Stay and renegotiate – there's too much to lose 8.28% (362 votes)' and 'Leave altogether – the EU isn't going to change 91.72% (4,010 votes).' That is pretty conclusive – if still possible add your vote to it: <http://alturl.com/ucf6f>.
